Our Food Ethos

PLOT TO PLATE • FIELD TO FORK • GRAIN TO GLASS

As a third generation farming family, food provenance is our passion. We're firmly of the belief that local is best – and you don't get much more local than your own back garden.

Much of the produce you'll enjoy today you'll find growing in our 1.5 acre Kitchen Garden, and we invite you to make a stroll through there part of your visit today.

All of our beef comes from our family's Red Tractor accredited farm & is grass grazed at the nearby Elmley Nature Reserve. Grains from our farm are used by the Copper Rivet Distillery at Chatham to make their artisan spirits.

Wild game, free range eggs & the many foragables of the shoreline & hedgerows complete our homeborn menus. We hope you enjoy this true and seasonal taste of Harty.

GREEN THUMBS, GREEN ETHOS

Harty has long been our home, and we're passionately invested in preserving it with our sincerely lived green ethos.

- Ultra-low food miles from our garden, farm & foraged produce
- Anti food waste - utilising the entirety of our produce 'nose to tail' creatively & composting any waste (excluding bones & shellfish) to fertilise the garden
 - Our venue & garden uses only our own treated well water
 - Half an acre of solar panels power The Ferry House
- Clever planting techniques to naturally maximise produce growth, improve soil quality & deter pests
 - Planting flowers to encourage biodiversity in our gardens
- Our high welfare cattle herd is grass-grazed at the Elmley Nature Reserve & supports their wonderful ecology
